The Science of Health!

Every Man his own Physician.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS

—AND—
Holloway's Ointment.

Disorders of the Stomach, Liver and Bowels.

The stomach is the great center which influences the health or disease of the system—abused, debilitated by excess—indigestion, offensive breath and physical prostration are the natural consequences. Allied to the brain, it is the source of headaches, mental depression, nervous complaints and unrefreshing sleep. The liver becomes affected and generates bilious disorders, pains in the side, etc. The bowels sympathize by costiveness, diarrhoea and dysentery. The principal action of these Pills is on the stomach and the liver, lungs, bowels and kidneys, participate in their recuperative and regenerative operation.

Erysipelas and Salt Rheum

Are two of the most common and virulent disorders prevalent on this continent. The Ointment is especially antagonistic; its modus operandi is first to eradicate the venom and then complete the cure.

Bad Legs, Old Sores, and Ulcers.

Cases of many years' standing, that have pertinaciously refused to yield to any other remedy or treatment, have invariably succumbed to a few applications of this powerful unguent.

Eruptions of the Skin.

Arising from a bad state of the blood, or chronic diseases, are eradicated and a clear and transparent surface regained by the restorative action of this Ointment. It surpasses all healing remedies for all classes of Eruptions in its power to dispel rashes and other disfigurements of the face.

Female Complaints.

Whether in the young or old, married or single at the dawn of Womanhood, or the turn of life, these tonic medicines display so decided an influence that a marked improvement is soon perceptible in the health of the patient. Being a purely vegetable preparation, they are safe in every condition of health and station of life.

Piles and Fistula.

Every form and feature of these prevalent and stubborn diseases is eradicated locally and entirely by the use of this ointment; warm fomentations should precede its application. Its healing qualities will be found to be thorough and invariable.

Both the Ointment and Pills should be used in the following cases: Burns, bruises, chapped hands, chilblains, fistula, gouts, hemorrhoids, eruptions, scales, skin diseases, swellings, sores, sore legs, sore breasts, sore heads, sore throats, sores of all kinds, sprains, stiff joints, tetter, neuralgia, venereal sores and wounds of all kinds.

CAUTION.—See that the words "Holloway, New York and London," appear as a watermark on this Ointment, the back of directions which enclose each box or pot. No others are genuine. A handsome reward given for information leading to the detection of counterfeiters. A great saving by taking the large sizes. Full instructions with every box or pot. 16-1y

The Returned Californian.

This was my home in boyish days—In manhood's morning prime, But now I seem a stranger here, In this cold northern clime; The scenes are changed, the friends are gone I loved in days of yore, So fare thee well my childhood home—Farewell for evermore!

Turn unto the setting sun With longing heart and eyes, For fate hath cast my future life Beneath Hesperian skies: The grand Sierras all to me, And from each rocky glen, And whither wood sweet voices cry—Come back—Come back again!

For all the wealth of Mexico I could not carry here, My home is in the Occident And all I hold most dear; My heart's a willing prisoner In regions far away— Among the pine-clad mountains Of California.

And when I see my aged maiden Till once again behold, A treasure—she's more dear to me Than all the wealth of gold; O'er land and sea on wings of love I'll speed—I'll speed away! Into the pine-clad mountains Of California.

"VELOCEPEDSTRAL."—As velocipedes are becoming more and more common, there is evidently arising a necessity for the rearrangement of the social code of things.

Well-bred young men know how to manage their hats, canes, umbrellas, horses, carriages and other personal conveniences, and exactly when making calls, in the ordinary manner.

But the progression of a velocipede apparently involves the owner in a number of perplexing social dilemmas, some of which a correspondent has furnished to the press. Here they are:

If a fellow goes with a velocipede to call upon a lady, whose house has no front yard, and no back yard, and there are a lot of boys in front of it ready to pounce upon his machine, and the lady is smiling through the window, what is he to do with it?

If a fellow, riding his velocipede, meets a lady on a particularly rough piece of road, where it requires both hands to steer, is he positively required to let go with one hand to lift his hat? If so, what will he do with his machine?

If a fellow, riding his velocipede, overtakes a lady carrying two bundles, and a parcel, what should he do with it?

If a fellow, riding his machine, meets three ladies walking abreast, opposite a particular tall curb stone, what ought he to do with it?

If a lady meets a fellow, riding his machine, and asks him to go a shopping with her, what can he do with it?

If the hind wheel of a fellow's machine flings mud just above the saddle, ought he to call on people who do not keep a duplex mirror and a clothes brush in the front hall?

If a fellow, riding his velocipede, encounters his expected father-in-law bothering painfully over a bit of slippery sidewalk, what shall he do with it?

If people coming suddenly around corners, will run against a fellow's machine, is he bound to stop and apologize, or are they?

If a fellow is invited to join a funeral procession, ought he to ride his machine?

And it is proper to ride a velocipede to church; and if so, what will he do with it when he gets there?—(Toledo Blade.)

A DUTCHMAN OPPOSED TO INSURANCE.

A certain Dutchman, owner of a small house, had effected an insurance on it of eight hundred dollars, although it had been built for much less. The house burnt down, and the Dutchman then claimed the full amount for which it had been insured; but the officers of the company refused to pay more than its actual value, about six hundred dollars. He expressed his dissatisfaction in powerful broken English, interlarding his remarks with some choice Teutonic oaths.

"If you wish it," said the cashier of the insurance company, "we will build you a house much larger and better than the one burnt down, as we are positive it can be done for less than six hundred dollars."

To this proposition the Dutchman objected, and at last was compelled to take the six hundred dollars. Some weeks after he had received the money, he was called upon by the same agent, who wanted him to take out a policy of life insurance on himself or his wife.

"If you insure your wife's life for $2,000," the agent said, "she should die, you would have the sum to solve your heart."

"Dat be fan!" exclaimed the Dutchman. "You assurance follows ish all tie! If I insure my wife, and my wife dies, if I goes to de office to get my two thousand dollars, do I gets all the money? No, not quite. You say to me, she vasant vorte two thousand dollars; she was vort about six hundred. If you don't like the six hundred dollars we vill give a bigger and better wife."

MOTHER.—Young man! thy mother is thy best earthly friend; she was restored to health—the mother never; the world may forget thee—thou mayest wrongs—thy mother never; the world may persecute thee while living, and when dead plant the ivy and the nightshade of slander upon thy grassless grave, but thy mother will love and cherish thee while living, and, if she survive thee, will weep for thee when dead, such tears as none but a mother knows how to weep. Love thy mother.

PRETTY GOOD.—A party of men were surveying for a railroad, and of course they were entitled to the best there was along the line. At one house they thought the proprietor was a little tardy in producing the cider. It came at last, and was tasted by one of the party with great deliberation. "How much cider did you make this year?" he asked.

"Fifteen barrels," was the answer. Another sip. "Well, if you had had another apple you might have made another barrel."

A CURIOSITY.—The editor of the Folsom Telegraph has seen the head of an arrow about twelve inches in length, which was found thirty feet below the surface of the ground, and which must have belonged to a race of men who have long since passed away.

The Grant Gift Enterprise.

Shortly after General Grant's election to the Presidency, and immediately after his brief visit to this city, last November, the Citizen felt forced to allude to what was then deemed a delicate matter, to wit, the General's reputation as one of the readiest receivers. We recounted how soon after the close of the war, certain gentlemen in this city subscribed and presented to him the handsome sum of $100,000 in United States securities; how friends had bought, furnished and stocked a house for him in Washington; how other friends had bought a house for him in Galena; how still other friends had purchased and presented yet another completely furnished house in Philadelphia; and how Grant had been the recipient of libraries, pictures, horses, wines, cigars, dogs, and pretty much everything else worth offering or bestowing—all of which had been freely poured in upon the General and as freely absorbed, till it had come to be understood throughout the country that Grant was ready to take almost anything except advice. The "gifts" which fall to a few men by nature, or come by education, in Grant's case have been compensated in a great measure by the generosity of his friends.

We have to day the scandal of a President sitting in the White House, not only as a general receiver of his "old friends," but as the pleased recipient of whatever these "old friends" or new acquaintances may bring in the way of gifts, from a bank check to a new pair of boots. The President's "receptions" have a strangely literal meaning. The daily levees at the Executive Mansion are like the Sunday gatherings in the Marshalsea, when the father of that institution, the elder Dorrit, received the "testimonial" of his admirers. But to this scandal must be added the national disgrace of the yet more shameful spectacle of a daily distribution of public offices in actual return for favors received! Grant did not hesitate to unblushingly write to Mr. Washburne that he honored him for services rendered in times past to Grant "individually." It is notorious now that Borie, who was appointed Secretary of the Navy, was a generous contributor to the subscription which bought the Grant house in Philadelphia, and so far as the public knows, Borie is noted for nothing else, and has no other claim or qualification for his new office. It is equally notorious that another man in the new Cabinet was the giver of a fine library to General Grant, and beyond this claim the man is so little known, even to his own party, that his party papers have not yet decided whether his name is Ebenezer Rockwell, or Samuel Tompkins, or something else. Besides such direct returns for substantial gifts, Grant is conferring favors right and left, a post office here, a collectorship there, an assessorship elsewhere, upon people whose only qualifications, as confessed by Grant himself, are that they are "old friends," who have given something to Grant, or have rendered some heretofore unrequited favor. Under ordinary circumstances it might be gratifying to see the great beneficiary returning something to his old benefactors, especially if he paid his old debts from his own pockets—but Grant is President of the United States, and the whole nation has a sense of shame in seeing public places prostituted and the public treasury picked for the sake of paying off the personal obligations of the President, or of furnishing the near or remote relations of the Grant and Dent families with easy means of getting their living at the expense of taxpayers. No such disgraceful nepotism as distinguishes the first fortnight of the new administration has heretofore been seen in all the combined administrations since the establishment of the Republic.

The new President may be pachydermatic even to the sharp prods of his own party, but it is to be hoped that the "old friends," the old subscribers, and the relatives of the resident's family are few in number, and will soon be paid off in full for their friendship, services, presents and relationship. We implore the President, however, for the sake of his position, if not for his own sake, to now close the gift enterprise business so far as it may concern new applicants who may bring a pair of boots in the expectation of carrying away a consularship. Let the barber shop be shut and the executive office be opened for the transaction of public business in preference to private trades.—(New York Citizen.)

NOT DEAD BUT SLEEPING.

A foreign journal mentions a remarkable case of a female supposed to be dead, and who came near being buried alive, but who was saved from premature interment, most miraculously. The girl had sickened and died, (as her friends thought), she was laid out as usual, and remained to all appearances as a corpse for three days, when the time arrived which was appointed for her burial. When the undertaker came to screw down the lid of her coffin a slight perspiration was noticed upon her skin which being immediately regarded, an examination was made, life was soon found to be in the body and she was restored to health. The most interesting part of the circumstances is the account that the girl gave of her own experience during her inanimate state. She said she appeared to dream that she was dead, but was sensible to everything that was passing around her, and distinctly heard her friends bewail her death; she felt them envelop her in the shroud and place her in the coffin. The sensation gave her intense agony, and she attempted to speak, but her soul was unable to act on the body. She describes her sensation as very contradictory, as if she was in and out of her body at the same instant. She attempted in vain to move her arms, to open her eyes, to speak. The agony was at its height when she heard the coffin. The horror of being buried alive gave a new impulse to her mind, which resumed its power over its corporeal organization, and produced the effects which excited the notice of those who were about to convey her to a premature grave.

THIRTEEN MILLIONS.—In answer to an official inquiry the President states that the American claim against Great Britain for actual damages done by the Alabama corsairs during the rebellion amount to over three hundred vessels, which together with their cargoes, were worth over thirty million dollars.

BELIEVING BUT NOT UNDERSTANDING.

"I will not believe anything but what I understand," said a self-confident young man in a hotel one day.

"Nor will I," said another.

"Neither will I," chimed a third.

"Gentlemen," said one well known to me, who was on a journey, and who sat close by, "do I understand you correctly, that you will not believe anything that you don't understand?"

"I will not," said one, and so said each one of the trio.

"Well," said the stranger, "in my ride this morning I saw some geese in a field eating grass; do you believe that?"

"Certainly," said the three unbelievers.

"I also saw the pige eating grass; do you believe that?"

"Of course," said the three.

"And I also saw sheep and cows eating grass; do you believe that?"

"Of course," was again replied.

"Well, but the grass which they had formerly eaten, had, by digestion, turned to feathers on the backs of the geese, to bristles on the backs of the swine, to wool on the sheep, and on the cows it had turned to hair; do you believe that, gentlemen?"

"Certainly," they replied.

"Yes, you believe it," he rejoined, "but do you understand it?"

The were confounded and silent, and evidently ashamed, as they well might be.

PREDICTIONS FOR THE YEAR 1869.

Several mornings, this year, the sun will rise before certain people discover it, and set before they have done their day's work.

In the course of the Spring and Summer, many alterations will be made in the form and trimming of the ladies' head-dresses, but I am not able to give an opinion at present whether their appearance will be improved by the alterations.

On the Fourth of July next, many sober people will be drunk before they are aware of it.

Many people will drink more strong liquor (fuel oil) than would be sufficient to keep them sober, and take more quack medicines than would be sufficient to keep them in health.

YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

SATURDAY, APRIL 24, 1869.

Crawford County Plan.

EDITOR DEMOCRAT: A petition is being circulated throughout the county to the Democratic Central Committee, asking that body to issue a call for Democratic primaries under the Crawford county plan. So far so good; but in the last clause of the petition is something like the following: If your Committee disregard our wishes we will act for ourselves.

Now I suggest the last clause is anything but Democratic. If I construe it rightly, it announces before hand, whether a majority of the Democratic votes are in favor of the plan or not, that it must be adopted, or the petitioners will bolt and join the enemy. This, Mr. Editor, smacks too much of the Sacramento Union's style to suit Democrats. That is what Governor, and bolt they did when he was nominated. Now we do not want a set of disappointed sore-heads to dictate to the Democratic party. I contend the petition is just right with that last clause left out; but with that in it no Democrat can sign it without stultifying himself. I feel assured the Central Committee will adopt any plan desired by the majority of the Democratic voters, and petitions showing their preferences are not only proper but desirable; but when these petitions are accompanied with a threat to bolt, I take it the Central Committee could not maintain their self-respect and entertain them at all. I, therefore, would suggest to all Democrats throughout the county, that if they approve of the Crawford county plan to petition the Central Committee respectfully, without a threat of declaration to bolt, or with that clause stricken out, and I feel assured their petition will meet with a respectful hearing. And if such petitions were printed in the Democrat office and sent freely out, asking all to express a preference either for or against this plan, the Central Committee would have a basis on which to act which would be a great relief to them, and also accord with that Democratic doctrine—let the majority rule.

J. W. S.
[The petition to which our correspondent refers has been in circulation in Woodland. The effrontery of its dictation is only equalled by the obscurity of its origin and the deserving contempt with which it is regarded.—Ed. DEMOCRAT.]

NOT FOLLOWING THE TEXT.—Previous to last election Grant gave utterance to the admonition, "Let us have peace" and immediately the words were appropriated as a text by every Radical stump orator throughout the land. The delusive phantom suggested by the honied expression no doubt greatly assisted the Radical chief to the highest office in the gift of the people. Were they honest and sincere in such expressions, or were all such pretensions designed to humbug and deceive honest voters? Let the animosities of that party be judged by its fruits. Below we give a specimen created from the brain of a leading Radical organ in this State, the Alta, which gives vent to its malignancy as follows:

The bill for the reconstruction of Virginia, Texas and Mississippi, which has just passed both Houses of Congress, provides that those States shall not be admitted till they adopt the Fifteenth Amendment. If they should remain contumacious, it is possible that there some harder condition still. It was possible for those States to resume the management of their own affairs by the adoption of the Fourteenth Amendment. They suddenly refused to do so, and now the Fifteenth is added. If they should again hesitate, a Sixteenth, and possibly a Seventeenth, may be piled up. As the years roll on, the victor in which they are induced will be screwed all the tighter. Better take the dose at once and have done with it, especially as there is certainty that it will not become more palatable with time.

"TREASON."—Whoever dares to call in question the motives of those who prosecuted the late war for the avowed purpose of preserving the Union are denounced by Radicals as copperheads and traitors. Senator Sprague, a Radical leader, must now come in for his share of abuse. In a speech on the Tenth of Office Act, Sprague boldly declares as follows:

I, for one in looking back upon the past history of the country—and the people, whatever philosophers may say, will come to the same conclusion—have come to believe that you was not been won for the liberties of any class of people; you war that you have just partially concluded has had no high virtuous principle at the bottom of it. It has had simple contentions for power, for place, and for occupation, commencing here in this body, and permeating throughout the country.

"Treason must be made odious" and the signal must be given for Radical batteries to open their fire on one of their own leaders.

WHAT NEXT?—If the Fifteenth Amendment is adopted, what next will the people be called upon to adopt? According to Radical theory there is no use or necessity for State lines and no doubt their next darling proposition will be a sweeping assumption of the powers not delegated to the Federal Government and the total destruction of every feature of State sovereignty. There are breakers ahead and the danger must be met by a mighty effort of the people to redeem the country from the curse of Radicalism.

ANOTHER GROUNDWELL.—A dispatch to the New York World, dated Cleveland, Ohio, April 5th, says: The Democrats have elected their candidates for city officers by heavy majorities. Their nominees for Mayor has over one thousand majority—a Democratic gain of over three thousand. The vote for President stood thus: Seymour, 5,742; Grant, 9,949.

NEW DISCOVERIES.—A party of miners returned to White Pine from Death Valley. They report rich discoveries of the precious metal. A large party of prospectors has gone to that locality.

Manner of Nominating.

In several counties the Crawford county plan of making nominations has been adopted as a means of correcting the evils of the convention system. In our own county the matter has been but slightly discussed, and so far as we can learn, no disposition has been shown to change the order of things in this respect, at least without due consideration. Hasty changes from old systems to new ones are often fraught with more evil than good. Without doubt the present method of making nominations is in need of improvement and any plan which promises reform is worthy of consideration. The principal objection that may be urged against the adoption of the new plan lies in the fact, that like the old one, it will probably fail to call out a full and fair vote of the party adopting it, in which case designing men can quite as easily foist unacceptable candidates upon the people as can now be done by the convention system. The fact is, no matter what plan is adopted, unless the people are persuaded to take a lively interest (which they seldom do) in the selection of candidates the wish and choice of a majority of the party will as often be perverted in the future as it has been in the past. It is well known that primaries must always fail to elicit more than a small proportion of a party vote, and no system will ever be followed by good results in all of its doings so long as the important matter of selecting candidates by any method is treated with indifference by the people. Since the proposed change has been agitated the press have indulged in extravagant abuse of the convention system, imputing in general terms, the most corrupt and dishonest motives to delegates assembled to represent party interests. So far as the Democratic party is concerned in Yolo county such imputations will not apply. The convention system here has, generally speaking, been satisfactory to a majority of the party. We are confident, at least, that the last convention was composed of honest, intelligent delegates who were actuated by an earnest desire to advance the true interests of the party, and if in any act of the convention the wishes of a majority of the party were not expressed, such act was simply a mistake made manifest by subsequent results and regretted perhaps as much by delegates through whose influence it occurred as by those who, standing aloof from primaries, are ever ready to pronounce conventions a combination of cliques, schemers and intriguers. Now the question of changing the plan of making Democratic nominations in this county is one of vital importance to the party and should not be hastily and inconsiderately decided. Many flattering advantages are claimed by the advocates of the new plan under the workings of the proposed system. All that is claimed for it may not be visionary, but before its adoption it should be carefully considered in all its bearings. The main object to be desired in any system is to obtain a full expression of the wishes of a majority of the party by which it is adopted. Will the Crawford county plan insure such an expression? Under that system will tax-payers, the honest yeomanry engaged in industrial labor, and fitted by practical life to represent the people in the various offices, be more apt to be selected as nominees, or will the whole party machinery be managed by politicians in a few of the most populous towns or precincts where a number of voters may be induced to go to the polls, sufficient to control all the nominations?

PHILLIPS' LAST ORDER.—Wendell Phillips is an advanced Radical if it is true, yet never has taken a position so advanced but that in time the "party of progress" has dressed up to the line. Mr. Phillips, in fact, has not veloped faster than his party. He was ahead at the outset, and has barely managed to keep ahead. Every demand that he has made in behalf of the negro, though himself out of Congress and without authority, has been acceded to by his followers, until he has become a sort of Radical guide-board. He it said to his credit, he has never thus far misdirected those who have consulted him as to what was ahead. His utterances are oracular in all matters pertaining to the future course of his party. It may be of interest to the country, therefore, to know what Mr. Phillips proposes for Congress to do next, which is merely equivalent to prophesying what Congress will. To use his own expressive language, he demands "the erection of scaffolds throughout the South;" he wants "Grant to imitate the example of Oliver Cromwell, to undo the history of five terrible years; to employ that cannon now lying idle in Washington, to such a purpose that a man may travel through the South and say 'I am a Union man.'" "Let Congress," he writes, "conquer the South with cannon, banners and scaffolds." We thus have the future policy of the Jacobins plainly marked out, so far as the South is concerned, but meantime let us ask, how about the North? Are not even so much as a few small arms, to say nothing of "scaffolds and banners," to be reserved for the "loil" States, when the whole South shall have been converted into an arsenal, floored over with "scaffolds" and canopied with "banners"? Let Mr. Phillips pause for a moment and consider.—[St. Louis Times.

CHOPPED.—President Grant very frequently finds it necessary to vary his programme to suit Radical dictation. The following amusing scrap of history, telegraphed recently to the Union, illustrates the point: A Tribune special says notwithstanding the fierce assaults of Senator Brownlow on President Grant, in Executive session, because the President nominated Ricks, instead of Brownlow's son-in-law, for Pension Agent at Knoxville, the President sent in the latter's name to-day for the place, on the ground that the rebel press were exulting over the statement that Grant had ignored Brownlow. The President, it seems, was forced to yield to Brownlow's demand. The shallow pretext for changing his mind is the sentiment of the "rebel press" which Brownlow and his followers pretend to treat with contempt. We suspect the President has not given the true reason for "chopping."

THE PRESIDENT'S DEMAND.—The shallow pretext for changing his mind is the sentiment of the "rebel press" which Brownlow and his followers pretend to treat with contempt. We suspect the President has not given the true reason for "chopping."

Special Correspondence of the Democrat. Letter from the Capital.

WASHINGTON, March 23d, 1869.

The long debate upon the repeal of the Tenth of Office Bill, has been an opportunity embraced by nearly all the new Senators to give their eloquence an airing. Thurman, of Ohio, in a polished, logical speech, made a good impression upon the Senate as well as upon the galleries. Cassey delivered a carefully prepared argument, but he cannot be said to have made a hit. After their curiosity was satisfied, Senators left their seats and taking possession of the sofas, chatted together, apparently oblivious of the fact that the junior Senator from the great State of California was making his first speech in the Senate. Yet his speech reads well and was the best argument yet made in favor of repeal. Matt Carpenter, from Wisconsin, was eloquent in favor of the renege of the law until the next session of Congress, and made some of the old heads stare, evidently impressed with the belief that in him they had found a leader, not a subservient follower. Scott, of Pennsylvania, made a legal argument in favor of the law, but would vote for suspension; yet he did not believe that the Constitution confers upon the President the power of arbitrary removal. He was congratulated by many Senators when he concluded. Carl Schurz spoke well, but he was not at home in his new position. All of the above-named Senators are able men, and in ability far superior to their predecessors. Brownlow had written a speech which was read by the Clerk, he being unable to stand alone upon his feet or even hold the paper in his raised hands. Brownlow is a physical wreck, but he is as restless in his hatred and as positive in his likes as ever. His unbending will keeps his nervous, pained body from combustion. He is now over sixty years of age, but he has the appearance of a man of forty-five. I never liked Brownlow, but I must confess that indomitable pluck which fights to the last and for a time conquers physical weakness, sets time and even death at defiance, excites admiration and wonder. Fenton, of New York, a tall man with iron-gray hair and beard, has as yet been a spectator. He will ably succeed Morgan, who was in the Senate more ornamental than useful. Buckingham, of Connecticut, has held his peace and so has the Indiana giant, Pratt. Pratt is six feet four inches in height, but so well proportioned, that standing alone, with no ordinary sized man to make a contrast, he does not look tall. He is said to have a voice so strong that Stentor's loudest notes compared to his is as the puny squeak of a penny-whistle to the screaming of a locomotive. I apprehend that the old Republican leaders—Sumner, Fessenden, Trumbull, Edwards and McKim—will find their right to be displaced by Schurz, Scott and Carpenter, and some of them will lower their crests and abate their assumption. Thurman will lead the Democratic "Forlorn Hope," taking the place of Hendricks, whom he resembles in dignity, polished manners and ability, though in no other way.

He is said to have a voice so strong that Stentor's loudest notes compared to his is as the puny squeak of a penny-whistle to the screaming of a locomotive. YOLO COUNTY DEMOCRAT.

County Official Paper.

TOWN AND COUNTY MATTERS.

EXAMINATION.—The examination of the Woodland District School will commence on Wednesday next, and continue through the week. Ample arrangements will be made to accommodate the patrons and friends of the school, and it is expected that there will be a goodly number present to witness the interesting exercises. The school has been well attended throughout the term, and the examination will no doubt be attended with gratifying results, showing the prosperous condition of the institution. The examinations, under the supervision of County Superintendent Darby, Rev. W. C. Curry, and District Attorney Ball will be conducted in the following order: at the Primaries, Miss Ruggles and Miss Tyler, teachers, on Wednesday; 2nd, the Intermediate Department, John Fendley, teacher, on Thursday; 3rd, the Grammar Department, F. E. Baker, teacher, on Friday. Prizes will be awarded to the different classes. An invitation to be present is extended to all patrons and friends of the school.

PICNIC EXCURSION.—Preparation is being made for a grand picnic at Mackay's Ranch, on the California Pacific Railroad, on Monday next, 26th instant. The occasion will be the semi-centennial or fiftieth anniversary of the introduction of Odd Fellowship in the United States, and in memory of the event the picnic will be given by several Lodges of that benevolent Order, which may justly feel a pride in celebrating its anniversary. The picnic at Mackay's (one of quite a number on occasion) will be conducted under the auspices of the Lodges comprising District No. 3, viz: Sacramento, Folsom and Woodland Lodges. Large delegations will be present from all parts of the District. It is thought that at least one hundred will go from Woodland. Members of the order have invited their friends and no doubt there will be present a large number of ladies and gentlemen, who are not members, to enjoy the festivities in common with brethren of the mystic tie.

NEW CHURCH.—We omitted in our last issue to mention the fact that Father Kelley, a well known Catholic priest of Sacramento, conducted the ceremonies of high mass at Temple Hall in this place on Sunday last week. The occasion, we believe, was the first time Catholic services had been held in Woodland, and considering the short notice given there was a larger attendance than was expected. After the ceremonies the priest delivered an eloquent sermon and closed by urging upon members of the church the necessity of building a Catholic church in Woodland. The audience seemed to favor the proposition and immediately a committee of three, consisting of Messrs. St. Louis, Security and Morin, was appointed to ascertain what amount could be raised by contribution. The committee is meeting with gratifying success and members of the church here are confident in their ability to accomplish the object.

FINE PAINTING.—F. Holtzman, artist of this place, has just finished a fine painting representing a beautiful landscape view of the valley and foothills in the vicinity of Buckeye. In the foreground is presented a harvest scene on the ranch of John Briggs with dwelling and other improvements quite natural. The steam thrasher and headers preparing the ripened grain for market show a striking likeness of a busy California farming scene. The rugged coast range in the background with intervening foothills and undulations form a pleasing contrast with the level plain, and altogether the picture is one which reflects great credit on the artist. The frame, a specimen also of Holtzman's handiwork, is a natural curiosity and must have cost many days of patient labor. It is indeed with all kinds of California berries, seeds, grain, nuts, etc., tastily arranged and presenting a beautiful appearance.

MAY-DAY PICNIC AT KNIGHT'S LANDING.—On the 1st day of May there will be a Picnic at Knight's Landing, to be held in the grove just below town, under the management of the Graston Sabbath School. At a public meeting held at the school-house on the 14th inst., a general invitation was extended to everybody to participate. It was also ordered that a copy of this resolution be sent to the DEMOCRAT.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.—The patrons, friends and pupils of Prairie Seminary, Fairview and other schools, united in a pleasant picnic party on Wednesday last. The ground selected was in a beautiful grove in the hills about five miles west from Fairfield school house. Delegations from various parts of the county were present—about three hundred partaking of a rich repast prepared for the occasion.

RETURNED.—We received a visit on Tuesday last from A. A. DeLong, a well known citizen and formerly member of the press, who has just returned from a swing around the circle in the East and is now exchanging congratulations with his friends at his old home in Woodland. He came through, overland, from New York in ten days including thirty-six hours detention.

MACHINES.—Fleishman & Kaufman are receiving direct from the house of Baker & Hamilton a splendid assortment of machines, steam engines, reapers and mowers, grain cradles, etc., etc. They are sole agents for Baker & Hamilton and propose to sell on reasonable terms and deliver articles purchased from them at any point in or out of the county.

THEATRICAL.—The Wilton Dramatic Troupe is announced to give an entertainment at Temple Hall, on Saturday evening, May 1st, also one at the same place on Monday evening, May 3d. This troupe has met with flattering success in different parts of the State, and we predict crowded houses on the occasion of their re-appearance in Woodland.

FLLOURISHING.—The Union Pacific Express Company's office in this place under the management of McCormick, the accommodating agent, is doing a lively business. The company have just established a new office at Colusa. Express matter will be carried to and from that point by Tucker, Buckley & Co.'s stages.

TEMPLE'S VISIT.—A delegation of Good Templars, twenty-five in number, from Woodland Lodge, visited their brethren at Davisville, on Thursday evening last, that being the regular night of meeting of the Lodge at that place. The Woodlanders express themselves as highly pleased with their reception.

COLLEGE EXERCISES.—We learn, incidentally, that preparation is being made for public exercises at Hesperian College, but as we have heard nothing concerning it from an official source we can give our readers no definite information in relation to the matter at present.

OLIVE OIL.—Several cases of olive oil have been received by Fleishman & Kaufman this week from the manufactory of Nathan Elliott, in San Francisco. The oil is said to be of a superior quality and we learn that Mr. Elliott, formerly a Woodlandite, is succeeding admirably in the business.

NEW STOCK.—Huston, Goldman & Co., of Knight's Landing, have received a fine stock of new Spring and Summer goods. The gentlemen members of the enterprising firm are desirous of the liberal patronage they are constantly receiving.

THE LOYAL LOUVER.—The history of the country, says the Examiner, furnishes no precedent to the rush of office-seekers at the seat of government. They come down upon the White House "like the wolf on the fold." It surpasses that of 1865, and likewise that of 1861, when a change in parties took place, and consequently an entire change in officials. So great is the rush, and so important are the hunters after place, that members of Congress are compelled to bar their doors, and only approach their lodgings through alleyways and by back staircases. The Departments are overrun by them, while the President is besieged on all hands and on all occasions by the "tremendous hordes of office-seekers." And this is the patriotism of the "troop of fools." Office, office, and nothing but office is now their cry.

RE-APPOINTED.—D. W. Cheesman has been re-appointed to the office of United States Sub-Treasurer.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

REVOLUTION IN THE SHAKER SETTLEMENTS.—One of those brown-coated, broad-skirted, broad-brimmed individuals who believe in Ann Lee, cellibacy, and the double-shuffle style of worship, recently entered the store of a somewhat facetious druggist in Philadelphia to obtain a supply of medicines for the common use of the settlement. When he had purchased the usual assortment of drastic purgatives, soporifics, mineral poisons, etc., the proprietor of the establishment informed him that his wife, in receipt of letters from the principal Shaker settlements in the country, stating that the inhabitants were abandoning their former habits and becoming like the rest of the world. The druggist protested on his honor that it was a fact, that he could not only prove it, but show his visitor the means by which the revolution had been accomplished. Thereupon he placed upon the counter a bottle of Plantation Bitters. The saint didn't see it, but when the man of drugs explained to him that the great vegetable tonic was curing ague and fever in every remote district, it dawned through his hair, that, medicinally speaking, it was annihilating Shakerism.

Some of you can't, and we pity you. You have tried every remedy but the ONE destined, by its intrinsic merit, to supersede all similar preparations. Smile and be Contented.

The world grows old and men grow cold,
To each while seeking treasure,
And what with want and care, and toll,
We scarce have time for pleasure;
But never mind, that is a loss
Not much to be lamented;
Life rolls on gaily, if we will
But smile and be contented.

If we are poor, and would be rich,
It will not be by pining;
No—steady hearts and hopeful minds
Are life's bright silver lining.
There's never a man that dared to hope,
Hath of his choice repented;
The happiest souls on earth are those
Who smile and are contented.

When grief doth come to rack the heart,
And fortune bids us sorrow,
From hope we may a blessing read,
And consolation borrow.
If thorns may rise and roses bloom,
It cannot be repented;
So make the best of life you can,
And smile and be contented.

A NEW JERSEY widow, aged forty years, has lately brought suit against a very festive young man, only eighty years old, to recover $40,000 damages for breach of promise to marry her. She claims that he promised first to marry her whenever she required; then within a reasonable time; then as soon as a certain divorce suit between him and a woman named Vreeland was decided; and finally, on the 1st of June, 1867, all of which he failed to perform. She claims that the gentleman never even hinted at the idea that he was too old to marry! There are several side issues in the case, and the New Jersey scandal-lovers are smacking their lips over it.

THOUGH murder have no tongue, yet it speaks with most miraculous organ. Here is a case in point. A young man in Texas, who outraged and shot a respectable married lady, was identified by the piece of paper with which he had wadded his pistol. It fitted exactly a round hole in a copy of the Galveston Bulletin, which was found in his pocket. When pasted in the printed matter it could be read without the loss of a letter. The man was hanged by a mob.

PROTECT THE TOOLS.—A correspondent of the Prairie Farmer writes: "I know a farmer who thought himself a very careful man, who left his harrow in the field, when his last seeding was done, all through the summer. When harvest came, his reaper was driven on to the harrow and both broken. Farmers! Farmers, buy a few rough boards, if you can afford nothing better, and put up a shed for the farm implements.

A GOOD REPLY.—A respectable negro in Washington city, a few days since thus responded to the chidings of a roving adventurer, who sought to seduce him into the Jacobin fold: "Under your teachings we have alienated from us the mass of the white people, North as well as South; you have got the offices and emoluments, while we have done the work and stand out in the cold. For one I am done with you."

CHARLES.—Tell me, Laura, why that sadness?
Tell me why that look of care?
Why has that look of gladness
That thy face was wont to wear?

LAURA.—Charles, 'tis useless to dissemble;
Well my face may wear a frown,
For I've lost my largest hair-pin,
And my chignon's coming down!

Two young men, who ought to have known better, loved two sisters in Nashville, and were cruelly refused. They then went to the bridge crossing the river, and with one last look to heaven, one farewell glance at earth, one thought of their loved ones, they together—were rescued by a friend, who opportunely appeared on the scene and invited them to take a drink.

SOL SMITH'S will is said to wind up as follows: I request that no one will wear mourning for me, as I expect to go immediately into a world of happiness, at which my friends rejoice. It is my special wish that my body may not be dressed up as if alive, but that it be dressed up in an old-fashioned shroud, the head resting on a small pillow, if conveniently at hand.

A young couple in Rockport (Me.), while courting, walked out together arm-in-arm and fell through a hole in the sidewalk, each breaking a leg. Paradoxical as it may seem, their fall proved a "lift" to them, and set them up in the world—a jury awarding them a verdict of $12,000 against the town.

A TEMPTATION.—A New Orleans lawyer, the other day, who was defending a case against a railroad company for running over and maiming a child, told the jury that if they awarded damages, the people of New Orleans would eternally be sending their children in the street to be run over.

"Boys," says Uncle Peter, as he examined the points of the animal, "I don't see but one reason why that mare can't trot her mile in three minutes." They gathered round to hear this oracular opinion, and one inquired, "What is it?" "Why, the distance is too great for so short a time."

A good story is told of a German shoemaker who, having made a pair of boots for a gentleman of whose financial integrity he had considerable doubt, made the following reply to him when he called for the articles: "Der boots ish not quite done, but the beel ish made out."

"Mr. dear," inquired a young wife of her husband, on his return from business, "have you seen the beautiful set of walnut furniture which the Smiths have bought?" "Ahem! no, my love, but I have seen the bill, and it quite satisfies me."

Said a youngster in high glee, displaying his purchase to a bosom friend on the sidewalk: "Two cocoanuts for ten cents! that will make me sick to-morrow, and I won't have to go to school."

An Oregon philosopher has found out why Cain, the murderer, was not tried and executed: At that time all mankind were near relations, and they couldn't get an impartial jury.

SUNDAY SCHOOL TEACHER—"Gertry, you were a very good little girl to-day." Gertry—"Yes, ma'ma, I couldn't help being good; I had a stiff neck."

A BACHELOR editor, who had a pretty unmarried sister, lately wrote to another editor similarly circumstanced. "Please exchange!"

NATURE, when she makes a beautiful head, is often so absorbed with admiration of her new work, that she forgets the brains.

A GENTLEMAN in Quincy found an express package addressed to "Adam Sell, Chicago." He opened it, and it was and having served my time at the two branches of carriage-work, (wood and iron) enables me to guarantee satisfaction in all cases, and to know, as foreman of my own shop, when work is WELL DONE.

To those who have heretofore dealt at other shops, and consequently are unacquainted with my work, I would say GIVE ME A CALL and examine my stock and work. Believing that the surest test of the value of my work can be had in the verdict of those who use it, I respectfully refer the public to who have and now are using Wagons and Buggies of my manufacture: E. Giddings, J. Lang-mour, J. Aldrich, Mr. High, H. Rhoades, Mr. Taylor, J. Jones, L. B. Ruggles, Gray & Freeman, J. Garotte, Fleishman & Kaufman, Ed. Moses, S. M. Hyman, George Scott, Mr. Linden, Mr. Olds, Mr. Lusk, Mr. Hurlbut, R. Fritz, J. Lane, Wm. Davidson, and a host of others whose names can be given if required.

Thankful for past patronage, I respectfully solicit a continuance of the favor.

G. J. OVERSHINER,

Main street, Woodland.
